this volume examines the relationship between law and sacrifice as a crucial nexus for theorizing the dynamics of creation destruction transcendence and violence within the philosophical and legal discourse of western society at a time of populist political unrest what philosophical and theoretical resources are available for conceptualizing the discontent that seems to emanate from practically every sphere of society what narrative strategies have been employed within literary theological philosophical and legal discourse to tame or mystify human violence engaging with the work of preeminent theorists of sacrifice such as georges bataille ren  girard giorgio agamben and jacques derrida this collection examines from an interdisciplinary perspective the sacrificial logic that characterizes the cultural and political dynamics of law in society the book will be of interest to students and scholars in the field of legal theory and philosophy combining a rigorous theoretical understanding with a subtle political engagement law and sacrifice is a dazzling interrogation of the limits and possibilities of democratic pluralism in the wake of apartheid law and sacrifice draws on the uniquely expansive protection of fundamental rights now entrenched in the south african constitution to outline a new theory of law the south african constitution not only protects the rights of people against abuses of power by the state but also against abuses of power by private legal subjects drawing upon the work of contemporary thinkers such as martin heidegger hannah arendt george bataille jacques derrida emmanuel levinas and jean luc nancy the author elicits the radical democratic potential of this horizontal notion of rights johan van der walt argues that apartheid must be understood as more than a racist abuse of power and here he articulates its sacrificial logic it is in going beyond this logic he maintains that the truly democratic potential of the south african constitution can be understood in a radical formal and substantive equality that offers the legal basis for rethinking a post apartheid future combining a rigorous theoretical understanding with a subtle political engagement law and sacrifice is a dazzling interrogation of the limits and possibilities of democratic pluralism it will be of interest to political and legal theorists as well as to those who are concerned with south african law and politics this work uses anthropological theory and field studies to investigate the social function and meaning of sacrifice all rituals including sacrifice communicate social beliefs and morality but these cannot be determined outside of a study of the social context thus there is no single explanation for sacrifice such as those advanced by rené girard or walter burkert or late 19th and early 20th century scholars the book then examines four different writings in the hebrew bible the priestly writing the deuteronomistic history ezra nehemiah and chronicles to demonstrate how different social origins result in different social meanings of sacrifice this book examines the hebrew bible s numerous laws about sacrificial procedure to understand the significance of gender in sacrificial rituals and the reasons that gender distinctions are so vital in these acts gender selection of both victims and participants is an intrinsic aspect of the nature and purpose of each rite affecting its form and function as well as its legitimacy sacrifice and gender in biblical law considers the laws of the firstborn the rite of the red cow laws of slaughter rituals of purification and other offerings it shows that these laws regulate material wealth and contribute to the construction of social roles a study of the reception history of thomas aquinas s account of eucharistic sacrifice during the sixteenth and early seventeenth centuries
